Surety Bonding For Small and Mid-Size Companies

“Bonds? Why do I need to bother with bonds?” If this is your basic rule of thumb on bonds and bonding, you might want to reconsider. Contract surety bonds – including bid, performance, and payment bonds – are required for contractors working on most public works projects and many private work projects.

Dustin Cooper, with First Insurance Group, will help NIBCA members to demystify the bonding process and analyze the bottom line benefit of bonds for your company. This presentation will explain what you can expect in that first meeting with a professional surety bond producer.
